Description

Description:

Arkopharma Arkocaps Echinacea is a dietary supplement supporting & enhancing the immune system. Its main active ingredient is in the root of Echinacea that contains:

Polysaccharides that protect cells from viral attacks.

Alkamides of which have antibacterial and antifungal properties. Also, these ingredients act by increasing the level of white blood cells and favoring the synthesis of a key to the immune molecule, interferon. Many clinical studies have demonstrated the immunostimulatory activity of Echinacea in many diseases due to exhaustion or immunodeficiency. Without having any toxicity or side effects, the Echinacea is an ideal plant for treatment 1-3 months in early each winter to strengthen the body against the repeated attacks of virus infection. Can also be used as a precautionary measure when the body is under physical or mental fragility that harm the immune system.

Use:

Take 2 capsules morning, noon and evening meals with a large glass of water.
