Description

Curcuma rhizome contains a set of substances called curcuminoids, curcumin which is the most important. It is a powerful antioxidant that contributes to the flexibility of the joints, muscles and tendons. To obtain optimal activity would require daily ingest large amounts of turmeric because curcumin is very poorly absorbed by the body and does not penetrate well in the blood. Curcumin bio-optimized goes well in the blood and guarantees optimum effect. The bio-optimized extract, exclusive Flexofytol is obtained by a formulation method that makes more available curcumin.
