Description

Description:

If you've injured your elbow, it's integral that you stop performing exercises that put strain on the affected muscles and tendons. Such injuries can have you out of action for weeks on end, so it's important that you stabilise and compress the area to speed up healing. The Thuasne Silistab Epi Elbow Support is effective at treating and relieving medial or lateral epicondylitis and has a dimpled silicone insert to massage your skin and relieve pain.

Features:

- Dimpled silicone insert massages skin
- Provides support and compression
- Removable strap allows for additional and adjustable compression
- Anatomically shaped elastic knit
- Provides optimal elbow crease comfort

Thuasne Silistab Epi Elbow Brace

- Comfort zones at the elbow crease
- Knit compression provides reinforced proprioceptive effect
- Patented pull tabs for easy application and removal
- Available in six different sizes
- Universal left or right design

Size measurement:

Measure the circumference 8cm under the elbow to find out which size will provide you with optimal support. The Silistab Epi Elbow Support is available in six different sizes with an ambidextrous design to fit your left and right elbow.
